Trans-Cultural Competency and Awareness (TCCA) Training

Steps Towards Culturally Competent Care

An Outline

Trans-Cultural Competency and Awareness (TCCA) Training is designed to train multiple settings of service providers about the unique needs of cultural awareness.

TCCA-Training material is developed to be used by health care professionals, academics, daycare workers, social workers, anti-violence workers and law enforcement, department of justice and mental health personnel and other human service providers working with a diverse population.

The training material includes: speakers' notes, cultural awareness quiz, diversity documentary, training tips and clips from Cultural Diversity DVD. The session also includes "Testimonies" (real stories) from immigrant women and research-based resources from MWONL project.

It is hoped that from the training, the participants will become more aware of the ways in which culture impacts their work and will help to be better equipped to serve the immigrants and diverse population living in Newfoundland and Labrador.
